PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Success in family law litigation hinges on a deep understanding of the rules and the ability to strategically apply them to your clients' advantage. But let's face it, the rules of evidence can be confusing! And without core competence in those rules, you risk entering your next evidentiary hearing not fully armed.

This program is not a dry academic review of Dean Wigmore's Evidence Lectures. Instead, it is laser-focused on the practical application of the rules of evidence to your family law cases, including support, custody, property, domestic violence, and attorneys' fees. Effective advocacy requires attorneys to: 1) Identify in advance the testimony and documents needed as evidence; 2) Successfully get that evidence admitted, often over vigorous objections; and 3) Exclude unhelpful evidence from the other side via timely and well-founded objections.

Judge Riff and Judge Kiley, both veteran trial practitioners before taking the bench, present real-life courtroom family law evidentiary issues in an engaging and entertaining format – far beyond two talking heads and a PowerPoint. Whether you've been practicing family law for a month, a year, or several decades, our program is designed to provide you with the knowledge and insight you need to achieve better outcomes and bring your litigation practice to the next level.
